

Work, Life & Social Skills Training

Our skill-building programs support adults with disabilities in achieving their goals at home, work, and in the community. Employment and training services develop job skills and guide career exploration, while life skills activities promote independence through fun, person-centered experiences and outings.

Employment & Training

The Employment & Training program at Curative Connections is two-fold. Curative Connections staff is committed to helping members get as close to their dream job as possible. The training portion of the program takes a hands-on approach to skill building. The program is a combination of classroom learning and work-site training.

The employment portion of this program is in partnership with the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR). Curative Connections supports members with job coaching, resume writing, interview skills, and more. Curative Connections believes in setting our members up for success once they achieve employment and provides support during every step of their employment journey.

Life Skills

The Life Skills program works on developing a variety of skills; socialization, coping mechanisms, relationship building, decision-making, nutrition, meal preparation, personal finance, personal hygiene, and more. Daily programming is a mix of hands-on learning, classroom work, and outings—which include volunteer work, skill application and educational speakers.
